

TOKYO 2020 Cultural Olympiad Report

Message from the President

Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee

With the COVID-19 pandemic raging around the world, the Tokyo 2020 Games were postponed for the first time in history, moving into the spotlight after a year of changes that upended the lives of countless people around the world. The successful conclusion of the Games was made possible by the monumental understanding and cooperation of the Japanese Government, Tokyo Metropolitan Government, local municipalities, the International Olympic Committee, International Paralympic Committee, Olympic and Paralympic partners, and the immeasurable number of people who offered their support in ensuring a safe and secure Games. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to you all.

In 2016, for the Tokyo 2020 Games, we started certifying a wide range of activities under the Tokyo 2020 Nationwide Participation Programme in order to encourage the independent engagement of different organisations and groups. Diverse cultural programmes were thus rolled out across Japan as part of the Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad.

To consummate the endeavour, we hosted the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival as an official Tokyo 2020 cultural programme from April through September 2021. Our aim was to contribute not only to sports, but also to the achievement of a peaceful society by overcoming the disunity caused by COVID-19. The Tokyo Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games implemented the festival under the themes of “Reconstruction of the Tohoku Region,” “Participation and Interaction,” and “Towards the Realisation of an Inclusive Society,” proudly presenting Japan’s fascinating art and culture along with our own message, all of which formed an integral part of the Tokyo 2020 Games. The events were live-streamed online, offering a new style of cultural enjoyment to more than three million viewers around the world.

We are delighted to present to you this Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad Report, a compilation of these initiatives and the fruit they bore.

The Tokyo 2020 Games set the stage for a large number of athletes to demonstrate their prowess and provide courage, hope, and inspiration to people worldwide. I am convinced that the Games also offered a setting for diverse artists to express their abilities and aspirations in art and culture in ways that undoubtedly embodied the philosophy of Olympism. I have high hopes that the accomplishments and experience gained at the Tokyo 2020 Games will be passed on to future generations, contributing to the achievement of a better world.

Message from the Chairman

Culture and Education Commission

Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee

In the “fundamental principles of Olympism,” which are stated in the beginning of the Olympic Charter that expresses the philosophy of the Olympic Games, there is a paragraph that says, “Olympism is a philosophy of life, exalting and combining in a balanced whole the qualities of body, will, and mind. Blending sport with culture and education, Olympism seeks to create a way of life based on the joy of effort, the educational value of good example, social responsibility, and respect for universal fundamental ethical principles.

In order to materialise those fundamental principles, the Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee began consideration of culture and education programmes in 2015, and also established the Culture and Education Commission, which has culture and education experts as its members. Committee members have considered and proposed ways of conducting culture programmes and various models for plans, etc. The lineup of members who are at the head of their respective fields was truly a collection of talented people, and each of the opinions that they expressed were rich in persuasiveness and appeal. All of the members narrowing down their wisdom in order to include those diverse and extensive proposals within the scope in which implementation was possible and within time restrictions was also a valuable experience. I think that the Action and Legacy Plan that the Commission set forth to “have as many people as possible to participate and connect the results of participation that arose because of the Games with the future” was probably transmitted throughout all of Japan.

However, COVID-19, which United Nations Secretary-General Antonio Guterres pointed out as the “greatest ordeal since World War II,” truly became a pandemic, and many countries are absorbed in handling it even now. Amid the pandemic crisis, the Culture and Education Commission took initiatives to materialise the very philosophy upheld by the Olympics, of seeking creation of a new way of living under the task that requires humans to overcome this ordeal, which is shared by international society. Accordingly, implementation of culture and education programmes while taking measures to prevent spread and diffusion of infection entails many difficulties, and there also were programmes that were forced to be cancelled, but the Culture and Education Commission believes that our initial purposes may have been accomplished as a result of the related parties’ enthusiasm and hard work, and the only thing we can do is entrust that evaluation to the judgment of as many people as possible and to historical judgment ten or twenty years from now.

I Olympic Games and Culture

1 History of the Cultural Olympiad (The transition from art competitions to contemporary cultural programmes)

< Sports and Art competition >

(1) The Cultural Olympiad and Baron de Coubertin's passion

At the end of the 19th century, French educator Baron Pierre de Coubertin visited the ancient Olympic site and became inspired by the idea of reviving the Olympic Games as an athletic competition that advocated world peace. Baron de Coubertin considered the ancient Greek festival of the Olympiad as an ideal form of physical education. His official proposal for the creation of a "modern Olympic Games" submitted to the 1894 Union des Sports Athletiques Congress held in Paris was approved, and the International Olympic Committee was founded later that year. Two years later, in 1896, the first modern Olympic Games took place in Athens, Greece. Furthermore, at the strong wish of Baron de Coubertin and in line with the spirit of the ancient Cultural Olympiad, cultural events were included in the programme of the Games of the V Olympiad held in 1912 in Stockholm, Sweden. Works were entered in five art categories, and the tradition of a Cultural Olympiad has since been carried on. Today the status of cultural programmes is mentioned in the fundamental principles of Olympism in the Olympic Charter: "Blending sport with culture and education, Olympism seeks to create a way of life based on the joy of effort, the educational value of good example, social responsibility and respect for universal fundamental ethical principles. (excerpt)" And Chapter 5 Article 39 states that: "The OCOG shall organise a programme of cultural events which must cover at least the entire period during which the Olympic Village is open. (excerpt)"

(2) From an "art competition" to an "art exhibition" The transition to the cultural programme of today

The art competition was held up until the Games of the XIV Olympiad in London 1948. Due to the complexity of the screening criteria and the costs involved, the format changed to an art exhibition from the Games of the XV Olympiad in Helsinki 1952 to the Games of the XXIV Olympiad in Seoul 1988. The cultural programme was extended from the previous years to cover a four-year period in the Games of the XXV Olympiad in Barcelona 1992. Since then, the multi-year programme has become a regular feature, cultural programme presented in today's Games.

■ History of the Cultural Olympiad

Athens 1896 (1st) — London 1908 (4th)	Not enforced
Stockholm 1912 (5th) — London 1948 (14th)	Enforced as an "art competition"
Helsinki 1952 (15th) — Seoul 1988 (24th)	Enforced as an "art exhibition"
Barcelona 1992 (25th) — Tokyo 2020 (32nd)	Cultural programme in its current form

(3) Art trends and the Olympic Games

Art nouveau was an art movement that flourished throughout Europe from the end of the 19th century to the beginning of the 20th century. In reaction to a society pursuing modern industrialisation, art nouveau was characterised by an organic style strongly advocating a return to nature and humanity. It was most widely used in architecture and ornaments as well as in sport facilities and printed material. The poster of the Olympic Games Stockholm 1912, the first

Games to include "art competition", was influenced by Alphonse Mucha and Gustav Klimt. The two world wars that followed resulted in major changes to society, and the art trend shifted from art nouveau to the Bauhaus Movement, then came the age of "modern design". The cultural programme transformed its style to an "art exhibition" from the Helsinki 1952 Games, and the Games poster also adopted a simple, symbolic and modern design. As the rapidly changing world of art turns another new page, the cultural programme at each Olympic Games has become increasingly unique and original.

II Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad

As mentioned in “Olympic Games and Culture”, The Olympic Charter states that “the OCOG shall organise a programme of cultural events which must cover.” This is why Olympic Games is a sporting event and at the same time a cultural event. After Rio 2016, Tokyo 2020 has promoted the Cultural Olympiad nationwide in collaboration with various stakeholders including the Japanese government, regional governments, cultural and art organisations, and partner companies, with the aim of spreading the Olympic and Paralympic movement to every corner of the country

1 Basic Concept

- Just like sports, culture moves people, cultivates rich human nature, and develops imagination and sensibility, as the food for people to lead a humanly life.
- This echoes with the spirit of the Olympic and Paralympic Games. The Olympic Charter mentions the importance of culture as follows: “Olympism is a philosophy of life, exalting and combining in a balanced whole the qualities of body, will and mind. Blending sport with culture and education, Olympism seeks to create a way of life based on the joy of effort, the educational value of good example, social responsibility and respect for universal fundamental ethical principles.”
- Cultural Olympiad enables everyone to participate in the Olympic and Paralympic Games, wherever they are in the country.
- Various initiatives of the Cultural Olympiad involve more people to the Olympic and Paralympic Games, and fulfill a big role in fostering momentum all corners of the country for the success of the Games.

2 Concept of the Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad

Based on the four legacy concepts regarding the Cultural Olympiad described below, we developed the Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad nationwide through various initiatives led by many entities.

- Concept ① Rediscover, develop and pass on Japanese culture
- Concept ② Nurturing the younger generation and create new arts and culture
- Concept ③ Communicate Japanese culture to the world and promote international exchanges
- Concept ④ Participation and exchanges for everyone, and revitalise local communities

3 Tokyo 2020 Nationwide Participation Programme

Cultural Olympiad was developed nationwide utilizing the Tokyo 2020 Nationwide Participation Programme Framework.

Various plans and initiatives were implemented to enhance people's interest toward sport and the Tokyo 2020 Games by joining forces throughout the country. These Participation Programmes featured events in which people can be a part of them and made a contribution that will benefit the future of the country.

< The Tokyo 2020 Nationwide Participation Programme Framework >

The Participation Programme was designed so that the national government, the Tokyo Metropolitan Government and the official sponsors as well as a wide range of non-profit organisations can participate. In order to leave a positive legacy after the Games in sport and other fields, the Tokyo 2020 Games targeted the following eight areas.

Framework of the programme <Two main programmes>

4 Initiatives of Each Organisation

Due to the spread of the novel coronavirus disease (COVID-19) infection on a global scale, many programmes that had been prepared by participating organisations for the year 2020 were suspended or canceled. Even under such circumstances, all people involved in culture and art explored new styles of creation to resume or continue artistic activities, aiming to overcome the challenges they faced.

(1) Initiatives taken by the Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee

The Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee developed projects to evoke the Cultural Olympiad movement on milestone opportunities such as kick-off events and 1000 days to go until the Tokyo 2020 Games.

The Tokyo Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games run the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival from April to September 2021, when Tokyo and Japan were in the global limelight. As an official cultural programme of the Tokyo 2020 Games, the festival hopes to serve as a symbol of solidarity across borders of all kinds.

1) Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad Kick-off Event took place in Nihonbashi

Prior to the Tokyo 2020 Games, “Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad Kick-off Event” took place in Nihonbashi in October 2016, as the kick-off event of the four-year Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad. This was a co-hosted programme by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government, The Tokyo Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games, Arts Council Tokyo (Tokyo Metropolitan Foundation for History and Culture), Mitsui Fudosan Co., Ltd., and was held in Nihonbashi, the center of Edo culture and the origin of the Edo Five Routes.

2020 Cultural Olympiad was declared. Festive performances under the theme of “tradition x innovation” were presented on a special stage.

Visitors at the venue had high expectations for the Cultural Olympiad for the Tokyo 2020 Games to start in four years.

2) Special Exhibition “Museum of Together” Diversity in the Arts organised by The Nippon Foundation (October 2017)

In October 2017, The Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee held an art exhibition with the Nippon Foundation to provide an opportunity to enjoy creating artworks with disabled people with the aim of raising awareness of the Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad and promoting participation and interaction of a wide variety of people through art.

3) Tokyo 2020 Participation Programme “Cultural Olympiad Night” was held

In commemoration of 1000 days to go until the Tokyo 2020 Games, the Cultural Olympiad Night was held in November 2017 on the Gyoko-dori Avenue near the Tokyo Station.

The first half of the event was a talk session on the theme of “How to disseminate Japanese culture”. In the second half of the event, “Tokyo 2020 ALL JAPAN CONCERT” was held. Many artists performed songs and with the illuminated Tokyo Station as the backdrop.

Songs awaiting the festival of peace echoed under the night sky of Tokyo. It was a special one-night event to spread the charms of Japan by joining forces throughout the country to liven up the Cultural Olympiad, in preparation for the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival to be implemented just before the Tokyo 2020 Games.

4) Tokyo 2020 Official Art Posters

Since the early 20th century, posters have been created by Organising Committees of the Olympic Games to promote and advertise this major sporting and cultural event. Olympic posters also play the role of showcasing each Games' special features to the world.

For Tokyo 2020, a total of 20 official posters have been newly created by artists in a range of fields, such as painting, graphic design and photography as well as calligraphy and manga culture that Japan boasts to the world.

Iconic posters are one of the legacies of the Games, of which the IOC and IPC will retain the rights now and for the future and promote their use for exhibitions and licensed product development. Compared to the Olympics, the history of official Paralympic posters is still short. This was the first time that the iconic poster was selected for the Paralympic Games.

(2) Initiatives taken by the Japanese government

Looking ahead to 2020 and beyond, the Japanese government launched initiatives all over the country to certify cultural programmes that contribute to the creation of legacies that Japanese people can have pride in to the next generation and are suitable for a mature society, taking advantage of Japan's rich and diverse culture.

Taking the Olympic and Paralympic Games Tokyo 2020 as an opportunity, the Japanese government organised the Japan Cultural Expo under the overarching theme “Humanity and Nature in Japan” from 2020. The goal of the Expo is to transmit the “Beauty of Japan” that covers the period from the ancient Jomon period to the present time in and outside the country and hand it to the next generation, thereby creating a better future. The programmes of the Japan Cultural Expo have been developed in all parts of Japan throughout the year, including art exhibitions, stage performances, and art festivals, gathering all the strengths of the Agency for Cultural Affairs, Japan Arts Council, relevant ministries and agencies, cultural facilities nationwide, local governments, private companies and organisations, etc.

1) “beyond2020” Programme

In the “beyond2020 Programme,” 69 certification organisations nationwide certify projects and initiatives that convey the appeal of Japanese culture and consider “diversity (accessibility)” or “internationality (multilingualization, etc.)”. As of August 31, 2021, the number of certified projects totaled more than 19,000.

2) “Japonismes 2018” and “Japan 2019”

“Japonismes 2018” and “Japan 2019” were held in accordance with the Japan Expo framework that originated at the “Beauty of Japan” Comprehensive Project Advisory Panel, and which promotes the appeal of Japanese culture and art.

“Japonismes 2018” was held from July 2018 to February 2019 in Paris, primarily, and other cities in France with the Japan Foundation acting as secretariat. The diverse appeal of Japanese art and culture were introduced by a wide range of more than 300 projects, which included Jomon culture, the origin of Japanese culture; Rinpa; Ito Jakuchu; Kabuki; media art; anime; manga; movies; contemporary theatrical works; food and festivals and attracted more than 3.5 million visitors in total.

“Japan 2019” was held from March to December 2019 in the US, in New York and Washington, D.C. primarily. Events such as an exhibition with the theme of the Tale of Genji, an exhibition of Japanese artworks representing animals, a contemporary Japanese play based on Greek tragedy, and a traditional puppet theater performance directed by a contemporary artist were held in collaboration with museums and theaters in the US. The quality of these events was highly appreciated both in the US and internationally. A total of 1.29 million people attended “Japan 2019”, contributing to the development of the understanding and interest in Japanese art and culture in the US.

3) Japan Cultural Expo

○ Objectives of the Expo

Under the overarching theme "Humanity and Nature in Japan," Japan Cultural Expo is a nationwide festival of Japanese arts and culture. Timed to coincide with the 2020 Tokyo Summer Olympic and Paralympic Games, events held all over the country will display the "arts of Japan" for the appreciation and enjoyment of not only Japanese audiences but visitors from overseas. This celebration of Japanese arts and culture aims to enrich the future by inspiring and educating members of younger generations.

The event is held for a long duration, mainly in 2021. At the Japan Cultural Expo, various cultural tourism resources that each region is proud of will be developed in a systematic way throughout the year. In addition, strategic promotions will be conducted both in Japan and overseas, to strengthen national branding using culture and stimulate tourism demand both in Japan and from abroad.

Amid the COVID-19 pandemic, The Japan Cultural Expo VIRTUAL PLATFORM was established in August 2021 on the Expo's website, for those who are unable to visit the venue to enjoy digital contents (animation, VR, images, etc.) in a virtual space. We plan to increase the contents, organise online tours and distribute stage performances.

Through hands-on experiences at the venue and virtual experiences of digital contents, etc., the Japanese government aims to transmit the "beauty of Japan" in and outside the country and hand it to the next generation, thereby creating a better future.

4) "WA Project": Toward Interactive Asia through "Fusion and Harmony"

The Japan Foundation Asia Center has been conducting a project that focuses on "Support for Japanese - Language Learning [NIHONGO Partners Program] " and "Arts and Cultural Exchange" and targets Asian countries and regions, primarily ASEAN countries, since Fiscal Year 2014.

As a result of dispatching "NIHONGO Partners", who support the local Japanese language teachers, to secondary schools in various countries and regions, the project has helped to improve students' Japanese language skills and their motivation to learn the Japanese language and has led to an increase in the number of students studying the Japanese language. Additionally, the program has created opportunities for exchanges between schools in Japan and local schools and has, thereby, created a favorable environment for providing a consistent form of Japanese language education.

As a result of the exchange activities with Asian people in various fields such as visual arts, film, performing arts, sports, and grassroots and intellectual exchanges, which all emphasize interactivity and collaboration, the network of experts in each field and the cooperation of citizen groups have been strengthened. This has contributed to building momentum and creating an environment in which Japan and other Asian countries and regions can deepen their understanding of each other's culture and collaborate on cultural exchange activities.

5) Japan x Nante Project

Japan x Nante Project, an international cultural and artistic exchange programme for disabled people hosted by the Agency for Cultural Affairs, was held as an official cultural programme of the Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee in August 2017.

In the project, works of art brut and excellent performing arts evaluated by the Directors of le lieu unique, Scène Nationale de Nantes, and La Cité des Congrès de Nantes (traditional art [Wadaiko, Japanese traditional drums, and Kagura dance], dance, music, plays) were performed.

During the project duration, advanced efforts were made to disseminate a wide variety of cultural works overseas, including playing a documentary film that recorded the process of creating artworks and the daily life of disabled people. It was a great opportunity to show a new aspect of Japanese culture and to display its presence in the world as a country promoting art and culture.

6) Cultural Programme Press Centre

Junior and senior high school students around the country visited the Tokyo 2020 Cultural Olympiad programme and various other festivals, events and cultural assets in Japan themed on local history and culture. The students acted as journalists and gained information and knowledge, which they summarised in their own newspapers, reports and video news to share the charm of the local culture in their communities.

(3) Initiatives taken by the Tokyo Metropolitan Government (TMG)

Since 2016, the TMG has developed a variety of cultural programmes to convey the charm of Tokyo, an art and culture city, to the world, taking the Olympic and Paralympic Games as an opportunity.

In 2017, to enliven Tokyo as the host city of the Olympic and Paralympic Games with cultural events, TMG launched programmes of “Cultural Festival” to broaden the possibilities of arts and culture under the title “Tokyo Tokyo FESTIVAL”. In the festival, exhibitions and performances held at museums and halls in Tokyo, art events set in the town were implemented. In addition, TMG supported cultural activities of organisations and companies in and outside Japan, and carried out a number of projects promoted in cooperation with municipalities in Tokyo.

1) Tokyo Tokyo FESTIVAL

○ Objectives of the Festival

As the host city of the Olympic and Paralympic Games, the Tokyo Metropolitan Government launched Tokyo Tokyo FESTIVAL for various cultural programmes to introduce the attractions of the city of art and culture. It was a great opportunity to enable people to see the attractions of Tokyo's art and culture scene, by holding various genres of programmes both offline and online, where Japan's traditions and modern culture and various cultures from all around world coexist.

Above all Tokyo Tokyo FESTIVAL Special 13 are 13 projects selected through a public call process from a total of 2,436 project proposals submitted from within Japan and overseas, designed to liven up host city Tokyo with culture. Some programmes started to be implemented in 2019, but the project was forced to be postponed in 2020 due to the COVID-19 pandemic. In 2021, the creative programmes that took on new challenges to pave the way for the future were implemented across various genres around Tokyo until September 5th while taking preventive measures against COVID-19.

Nine pavilions appeared in Tokyo in the summer of 2021

It is the first project in the world that proposed a free, new urban landscape by placing pavilions designed by Japanese architects and artists who are active all over the world at multiple locations in Tokyo, mainly around Japan National Stadium. Like a treasure hunt with a map in hand or on a walk, viewers could go around the pavilions where the creators expressed their hopes for the future. This project provided visitors an opportunity to feel the attractions of Tokyo as a city and the beauty of Japanese architecture.

○ Tokyo Caravan

In the Tokyo Caravan hosted by the TMG, the “mingling of cultures” of diverse artists beyond national, linguistic, cultural and other boundaries came into reality. This was supervised by NODA Hideki, a playwright, director and actor.

Starting in Komazawa, Tokyo in 2015, the Caravan developed performances beyond genres in Rio de Janeiro, Tohoku (Sendai and Soma), Roppongi, Kyoto (Nijo Castle, Kameoka), Hachioji, Kumamoto, Toyota, Kochi, Akita, Iwaki, Saitama, Toyama, Okayama, and Hokkaido. The Caravan continued creating performances adopting new ways of expression that can only be seen in the Tokyo Caravan, stirring a cultural movement all over the country.

Continuous interaction across countries and regions has created a cultural platform beyond the Tokyo 2020 Games.

The event had many participants in a variety of contents, including dance, live performances, panel discussions on the theme of “For an Inclusive Society,” and “Future Language Workshop,” where participants experienced the state “unable to see,” “unable to hear,” and “unable to speak,” and tried different ways of communication. The kick-off event provided participants with an opportunity to consider an inclusive society, and raised expectations for the Cultural Olympiad for the Tokyo 2020 Games.

2) Culture City of East Asia 2019 Toshima

In the Culture City of East Asia 2019 Toshima, various events of theatrical arts, manga and anime, festivals, and performing arts were held with “With everyone in Toshima”. In addition, various exchange events on culture and art were held with Xi'an City in China and Incheon Metropolitan City, South Korea. These initiatives deepened mutual understanding and strengthened the bonds.

Toshima successfully appealed its charm as the “sacred place of manga and anime” and “international city of art and culture” both in Japan and abroad.

3) Saitama Triennale 2020

Saitama Triennale 2020 took place from October to November 2020 with the aim of introducing cutting-edge works of professional artists. It also aimed at providing opportunities for such works and cultures, developed for a long period of time in different parts of Saitama and artistic and cultural activities of citizens, to meet, and creating opportunities for them to fuse and stimulate each other.

The event interpreted bonsai, dolls, railway, and manga culture that Japan boasts to the world, from the perspective of contemporary art unique to this art festival and disseminating it both in Japan and abroad. 5 Achievements and Legacies

(1) Major achievements and results

Cultural Olympiad was developed in all prefectures of Japan utilizing the framework of the Tokyo 2020 Participation Program, and many people joined cultural festivals.

- During the Cultural Olympiad, there were 5,657 programmes, with 37,129,108 participants in total.
- Of the total, 93.8% of the hosts wish to carry out similar projects beyond 2020, and the legacy of the Tokyo Games will be passed on throughout the country.

- In addition, in 56.5% of the events, volunteers actively participated. It also contributed to the development of the volunteer culture.
- Of the total, 86.1% of the events were attended and played by diverse people, including disabled people and non-Japanese. This is the proof of Japan's globalization thanks to the improvement of accessibility both in terms of tangible and intangible forms, and the expansion of inbound tourism nationwide.

The COVID-19 pandemic forced performances and exhibitions to be canceled, having a serious impact on culture and art. However, new value was created, such as the development of new methods of expression and appreciation on the Internet.

- In 2020, the ratio of people who enjoyed culture and art performances directly significantly fell from the previous year's figure of 67.3% to 41.8%.
- In 2020, 27.7% of people watched culture or art programmes online, by using the paid Internet distribution service or other methods; for those aged 20-29, the ratio was 48.4%.

(2) Legacies

For the Tokyo 2020 Games, various cultural programmes were carried out overcoming the COVID-19 pandemic, taking the Cultural Olympiad as an opportunity. As a result, people from a wide range of fields participated, enhancing the momentum to liven up the country with cultural events.

Cultural events were held all over Japan, even outside the cities where the venues were located, creating new methods of expression and cultures through exchanges of people. At the same time, they led to the recognition of the Japanese culture and disseminating it to the world.

Concerted efforts of the Japanese government, TMG, and the Tokyo 2020 Organising Committee have resulted in the creation of new projects and also other programmes enhancing the existing ones in various locations. In addition, collaborations between cultural and art organisations and local governments were formed all over the country.

By developing cultural resources such as history, cultural assets, traditional performing arts, and festivals that each region is proud of in various frameworks and in a systematic way, opportunities were provided to recognize the importance of Japanese culture. In the future, Japanese culture is expected to be handed down to the next generation and be promoted further.

In addition, more than half of the programmes created at the Cultural Olympiad will continue beyond 2021, generating cultural resources in each region as legacies.

III Tokyo2020 NIPPON Festival

As the culmination of the Organising Committee's efforts described in II, the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival, the official cultural programme of the Tokyo 2020 Games, was held.

② Co-hosted Programme

In addition to programmes organised by Tokyo 2020, Co-hosted Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival events were staged in collaboration with local governments and cultural or arts groups across Japan; these aim to encourage greater awareness of diversity in the build-up to the Tokyo 2020 Games. They also showcased Japanese culture and art across Japan and globally before and during the Games.

NIPPON
フェスティバル

- The festival logo, was created by TOKOLO Asao, who also produced the Games emblem
- The logo symbolises how the festival spreads widely across Japan.
- The logo is based on the same harmonised chequered pattern of three differing sizes of square and rectangular shapes that adorn the Games emblems.

(5) Catchphrase

Blooming of Culture

文化は、出会いから花開く。

A cheerful and festive expression of “new cultures and emotions” born from the meeting and interaction of people from all over the world. The catchphrase befits Japan, where people are blessed with the enjoyment of its distinctive four seasons and conveys the hope that cultures will bear fruit through the festival across the country.

2 Postponement of the Tokyo 2020 Games and the holding of the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival in 2021

Subsequent to the decision announced on March 24, 2020 to postpone the Tokyo 2020 Games, it was decided to cancel The Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival on April 20, 2020. Since then, we have reconsidered the significance of implementing cultural programmes at the Tokyo Games and examined the possibility of carrying out the festival from various perspectives from the scratch (including abolition), based on the measures against the COVID-19 infection and the “Positioning, Principles, and Roadmap of the Games in response to the Postponement of the Games” (officially released on June 10, 2020).

Regarding the significance of implementing cultural programmes, we inquired with the Cultural and Educational Committee held on February 3, 2021 and confirmed the implementation policy. At the same time, the implementation process was reviewed in consideration of the COVID-19 countermeasures and simplifying the Games. It was decided to hold the cultural programmes for 2021, and announced it on March 9, 2021.

< The significance of the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival in 2021 >

Based on the fundamental principles of the Olympic Charter, Olympism—a concept underpinning the NIPPON Festival—seeks to blend sport with culture and education in order to promote a peaceful way of life based on the educational value of good example, social responsibility and respect for universal fundamental ethical principles. For this reason, as well as being a sports festival, the Olympic and Paralympic Games are known as a “festival of peace”.

The cultural and artistic elements of the NIPPON Festival are designed to inspire people, and in the wake of the social fragmentation caused by the COVID-19 pandemic, the programme aims to be a symbol of human solidarity that will transcend boundaries and encourage global cooperation.

The Tokyo Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games will run the Tokyo 2020 NIPPON Festival from April to September 2021, when Tokyo and Japan will be under the global limelight. As an official cultural programme of the Tokyo 2020 Games, the festival will hopefully serve as a symbol of solidarity across borders of all kinds

(4) Project Story

This project centers around Mocco, a giant puppet that will head from Tohoku to Tokyo in 2021, 10 years after the Great East Japan Earthquake.

Mocco is the brainchild of children from Tohoku and was created in workshops. The puppet stands approximately 10 metres tall.

At each point on the journey to Tokyo along the Pacific Coast via Rikuzen-Takata (Iwate), Iwanuma (Miyagi), and Minami-Soma (Fukushima), Mocco will experience the wonderful people and culture of Tohoku firsthand.

Mocco will connect Tokyo with Tohoku, once again bringing people together on an emotional level.

The giant puppet ignites the spark necessary to increase interest and attract more people to know about and visit modern Tohoku.

With a basket full of memories, Mocco continues his journey to bring a smile to people's faces, happiness to many, and disparate thoughts and ideas together as one.

< Mocco's Story >

This story depicts a journey of Mocco, born in Tohoku and continues a journey encountering many people. *Part of the story was revised in 2021 considering the impact of COVID-19)

Design workshops for children in Tohoku started by story telling, and children worked on the design of Mocco imagining it appearing in the story. At the events held at three venues in Tohoku, Mocco appeared in the main show in tune with the sound source of ISHIKAWA Sayuri reading "The Story of Mocco". At the venue in Tokyo, ISHIKAWA Sayuri actually read the story aloud.

Mocco's Story Author / Naoki Matayoshi

- We can hear a large sound, like fireworks, thunder, or construction.
- Opening the window, Mocco's footsteps echo in a pure white world of snow.
- A very big Mocco is walking in this snowy town while letting out a white breath.
- Dancers dance mysteriously in time with Mocco's footsteps.
- Mocco tries to match their dance moves but moves strangely and so everyone is laughing.
- The band plays music cheerfully to Mocco's footsteps.
- Mocco sings to the music but he is so bad that it puts everyone off.
- When Mocco jumps over the river, a strong wind blows together with his big footstep.
- Under Mocco's feet, a "vacuum" is created. Many things can be seen through the black hole.
- A star, the moon, a flower, a rice cake, a camel, a rakugo storyteller, a stick to be used for wearing shoes, a rapper, an interpreter next to a famous person, and an old candy which has been in someone's pocket for years. What can you see?
- "Bengaron guizzina zoboizobo!" Mocco's tummy is rumbling.
- "Zudozudo nededededee-!" Mocco is yawning.
- Mocco keeps walking to bring happiness. Mocco loves humans.
- Mocco is peeking from behind a rock to check if the fisherman has caught a fish.
- Mocco plays goalie in a soccer game with children.
- Mocco donates his blood.
- Mocco hangs out with the loitering delinquents in front of a convenience store.
- Mocco tries to help a girl who is being harassed by a tout.
- An elderly lady is carrying a heavy load on her back.
- Mocco helps her by putting the lady on his hand.
- But the elderly lady still carries her load on her back. The heaviness does not change.
- Mocco is clumsy but the elderly lady is smiling.
- Mocco is helping with the rice harvest. But he eats more than he harvested.
- "Bebeben bebebebe zuguzugubero-n!" Mocco is yawning.
- "Myanga myanga" Mocco is talking in his sleep.
- A big tree is about to fall down. Everyone gives their opinion. "We should cut it down," "let's prop the tree up," "just leave it as it is," "let's sell it off." Their ideas are different but they all want to do something about it.
- Mocco pulls out the big tree and throw it into the sky. The big tree flies into space and becomes a shooting star. Everyone makes a wish on that shooting star.

- “I want to swim with dolphins.” “I want to read all the comic books in the world.” “I don’t want people to see me yawning.” “I want to see my family.” “I want to eliminate conflict.” “I want to see a world where everyone can smile.” “I want to get better at winking.” “I want to cook something delicious with leftovers in the fridge.” Their wishes are different but have common ground hoping for a better tomorrow.
- The children became friends with Mocco. Mocco doesn’t go easy on them and beats them all at sumo wrestling.
- While walking from town to town, Mocco listens to the children’s stories.
- Their stories about the universe, first love, mothers, or the eraser on the end of a pencil.
- Some children are sad about Mocco leaving. “Please stay and live with us in our town.”
- Mocco walks on and thinks: “I keep walking because I want to see different scenery and many smiles. I do what I can, and do what I like.”
- But sometimes Mocco stays still for around 100 years. He can be a bit vague about these things.
- The children cry. “Don’t leave us.”
- Mocco speaks in a gentle voice. “The memories between you and Mocco will belong to you and Mocco forever. Whenever you think of Mocco, even if we are far apart, Mocco belongs only to you.”
- One boy has a look on his face as if to say “what is he talking about?” Never mind that, one girl is so surprised and says, “I didn’t know Mocco can speak!” In any case, Mocco and the children are friends.
- Oh, yeah. Let’s shout out loud. “Ohhhhh!!!!” The giant Mocco shouts for everyone.
- Broken-up couples look at Mocco. People who were arguing with each other now look at Mocco. Mocco is looking at tomorrow with his giant eyes. Mocco walks to bring people together.
- At that time, someone starts liking someone else, someone starts to follow their dreams, someone is about to move onto the next life, a new life is born in someone’s home, and someone is laughing in a big voice.
- Mocco keeps walking in a town where the snow starts to melt and the flowers start to bloom. Mocco keeps walking.

END

(6) Giant puppet “Mocco”

Design of Mocco, named by KUDO Kankuro, was created through workshops attended by children in Iwate, Miyagi, and Fukushima Prefectures and creators under the direction of YANAI Michihiko.

First, children listened to “The Story of Mocco” written by MATAYOSHI Naoki and imagined its appearance. Next, they freely drew Mocco using various drawing materials such as crayons, watercolors, tapes, yarns, etc., on cardboards larger than children's bodies. From the various methods of expression taken by children, such as drawing, breaking, and connecting, Mocco's costumes design was created.

Based on the draft design created in the workshops, ARAI Ryoji made the base design. With the cooperation of more than 100 volunteers in Takamori-cho, Nagano Prefecture, SAWA Noriyuki and other creators made a huge puppet Mocco with a wish for the reconstruction of Tohoku.

Mocco transformed itself from a puppet to a doll to connect people’s wishes. It collected people’s feelings and messages on its journey in Tohoku, and transmitted them to the world across many borders, including the national borders, generations, gender, etc.

[verse#1]

Walking Walking Walking Mocco is Walking strongly, gently and cheerfully Mocco walks heavily Carrying the prayers and wishes of the people in Michi no oku (Tohoku)
step by step little by little step by step
Walking Walking Walking Mocco is Walking light on the feet Mocco walks heavily gathering the cheers and love from people all over the world one step one step one step today another step

[verse#2 / Iwate]

The tenth spring will come to the town where the miraculous pine tree stands
A warm breeze blows into the reborn town
Behind our closed eyelids, we see scenery from the past each having its own story
But let's live in this place. We also live the word "reconstruction"
The resounding festival music echoes in the sea and the storm calms down
We will rise up for any difficulties. Children look at us.
This is Tohoku spirit
We're excited with upcoming future days
Our feelings left at that place on that day
Let the mixed feeling as it is
Let's weave the next story, Sanriku

[verse#3 / Miyagi]

Children who were four or five years old back then are now fourteen or fifteen in their third year of junior high school.
By tracing their vague memories, they learned how many people supported them.
Thank you. Thank you. Now it's our turn to offer helping hands.
We want to pass this kindness to someone else, someone else in need
The shape of it has progressed but the heart of it stays the same.
Don't forget that "rediscover Tohoku" has just begun. It has just begun.
Your smile always saves people. Let's picture Miyagi's tomorrow together.
The single-eyed dragon should be watching the development of the town from the Aoba castle.

[verse#4 / Fukushima]

And Hama-dori in Fukushima. We live here as we've always done.
The sky is blue and the green is shining. The blessings from the sea and gifts from the land.
Prayers for all those who couldn't make it to today.
Gambappe, Gambappe, Gambappe, Fukushima (Let's work hard)
You tried hard, tried hard, tried hard Tohoku.
Let everyone know what happened here, let everyone know the good things about here
Let everyone know what we overcame, let everyone that we are behind
Let everyone know many delicious foods, let everyone know the kind people
Let everyone know how Fukushima is now, let everyone know what is important for us
That's our hometown, our familiar hometown, the hometown we love more than before
The areas we can't go back to now will gradually change
On that day, let's gather flowers of various colors and make a vivid bouquet.
Be grateful for the ordinary days. This is the treasure of Tohoku

(1) Theme: Participation and interaction

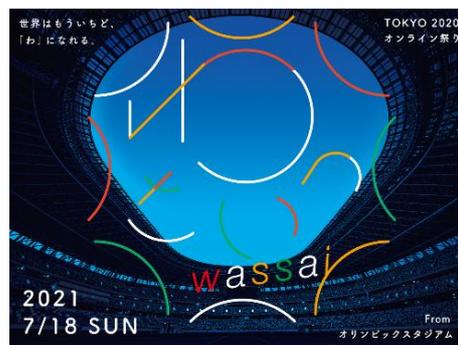

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic situation, a VR Olympic Stadium that symbolises the Tokyo 2020 Games was set up. In order to provide everyone, both in and outside Japan, opportunities to participate, a new method was adopted: The events were livestreamed to maximize momentum to create positive mood just before the Tokyo 2020 Games.

(2) Objective of the programme

COVID-19 has created not a little division, both inside and outside the country.

Families, friends, countries, and regions. In this age of division, the world needs to be connected. Wishing that the world will unite again, we become connected virtually and create “WA” of dancing. This festival is called “wassai”.

“wassai” is a story of journey of time from the age of the Kojiki (Records of Ancient Matters), when the country was born, to the present age, to the National Stadium. In the story, people from all over the world participate, dancing and singing songs, form “WA,” make a big circle, and harmony. Through this virtual festival, we aimed to welcome people from all over the world to the festival and achieve exchange of people.

<Part 1: The story of the birth of “wassai”>

“wassai” describes a story that peace prevailed on the chaotic world constantly troubled with wars and disasters by creating “WA”. Dancers depicted the story of the creation of “wassai” with performances on themes such as “Honoo” (fire,) “Mizu” (water) and “Kaze” (wind).

<Part 2: Let's dance and sing and make a lot of noise! Let's sing and dance “wassai” together remotely and become “wa”!>

Moving to the virtual Olympic Stadium, a rock band WANIMA appeared on the stage. The performance was livestreamed in Japan and other 12 countries and regions (Israel, India, Indonesia, Australia, Croatia, Taiwan, Nepal, Pakistan, France, Madagascar, Lebanon and China). The participants, together with more than 2,000 fictional creatures posted as illustrations from all over the world, enjoyed the virtual festival “wassai” to create one big “WA” with songs and dance.

(6) Results and legacies of the project

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic situation, the event was held virtually to provide everyone both in and outside Japan to participate. More than 850,000 people viewed the event. Thanks to the method adopted making use of the characteristics of virtual technology, we were able to share the experience and time of creating “WA” on a large scale, and realize the participation and exchange of people throughout the world.

Next-generation talents and dancers from Japan created high-quality performing arts. They are expected to achieve further success in the future.

- We appointed AOI Yamada and TAKAMURA Tuki as main performers, who are talents of the next generation.
- An image inspired by such elements as the sun, flame, wind, water, forest, and so on, was designed by HIBINO Katsuhiko a team of students from Tokyo University of the Arts. The image was then incorporated into a CG space, and integrated into video. The resulting performance was a powerful and attractive one.
- Dancers who are active both in and outside Japan displayed performances utilizing their well-trained bodies and mind.

<Tour of the 9 islands >

● Golden Island

The tour starts with an island which has a rich culture with festivals taking place every day. First off, the calligrapher, KANAZAWA Shoko, expresses the feeling of welcome through calligraphy. When she starts to dance, a couple of dancers in red and white costumes, Sanika and Minori, join to showcase their well-timed dance. The roaring sounds of taiko drum and shamisen, traditional instruments indispensable to Japanese festivals, add to the festivity

● Island of Beasts

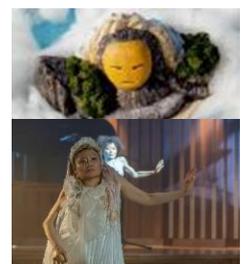

In the deep forest with colourful flowers in bloom, the dancer, Soushin Kouyoushi, performs the dance of foxes, which has been performed at festivals in Japan since olden days. The puppeteer crew, Isshiiza, with roots to the traditional entertainment from the Edo era appear and the puppets dance in fox masks. With the expert techniques, Isshiza give brilliant life to the different beasts.

Next, the stage group, Hito no Mori Ketchup, comprised of people with different abilities, appear. They perform a colourful and a bit eccentric Alice in Wonderland play.

● Island of the Different

An island where a miraculous beauty is created by a goddess with unique physicality. The dancer, MORITA Kazuyo, who is with a congenital impairment, maneuvers her body to dance to the music of "Air on a G String". The pianist, who plays a beautiful cacophony accompanying the dance, is the internationally acclaimed pianist/composer, MATSUNAGA Takashi.

- Muses' Island

Muses were goddesses of art in Greek mythology. As the name suggests, this is an island of art.

In addition to shooting portraits of celebrities such as Lady Gaga, Leslie Kee, who works for social activities for sexual minorities, for coming out projects and the like, appear with his partner Joshua. He introduces his work and talks of his passion for photography.

A group of artists with diverse physical abilities: a picture book artist, an illustrator, a painter, a designer etc., gather to freely perform live painting, exploring the possibility of communicating beyond words.

- Rainbow Island

An island that features the rainbow colours that represent diversity of sexuality and gender, and are the symbol of the LGBTQ community.

The male/female-voiced performer Yui, a transgender woman, appears in a rainbow-coloured dress. She sings a song, "Docchi?", with messages such as "man or woman, I don't care!" or "the important thing is to overcome challenges and enjoy your life".

Following the performance, the only bed-ridden comedian in the world, Asodog, introduces his brilliant photo book "Asodog's material". The audience feel conflicted as to whether they should laugh or not!

- Island of Superhumans

Unconventional and radical superhumans live on the island.

In a sleepless urban underground, 25 metres below ground, the rapper GOMESS performs his acclaimed song, No Longer Human, which encapsulates the shock he felt when he was diagnosed with autism. The dancer, KANBARA Kenta, maneuvers his wheelchair and dances acrobatically.

- Fight Island

Pretty Ota and Mr. Buddhaman are the only two remaining little people wrestlers in Japan who have been keeping this culture alive. But now, the two have become antagonistic for the stage. With his pride at stake, they fight a tough battle. Dump Matsumoto, a famous Japanese female professional wrestler, from the villainous-group "Goguaku Domei" also takes part, wielding a bamboo sword! The ring announcer is the veteran of the voice acting circle, MITSUYA Yuji. The popular comedian KOJIMA Yoshio appears as a guest commentator.

- Island of Kindness

Chimugukuru means a "kind heart or richness of character" in the Okinawan language, Uchinaguchi. The singer songwriter with a vision impairment, SATO Hirari, sings "This is me" from The Greatest Showman, which won the 75th Golden Globe Award for Best Original Song and became a global hit. With the YANO BROTHERS, a music group with their roots in both Japan and Africa that play a unique fusion of music they call 'Jafrican', the singer sings "I am who I'm meant to be, this is me" powerfully.

- Love Island

Surrounded by the families of different backgrounds connected with deep love, HIRAHARA Ayaka sings her famous song “Jupiter”. OMAE Koichi, a dancer with a prosthetic leg, dances powerfully and elegantly to express the magnificence of the song.

- Golden Island (Finale)

For the last stop of the tour, we're back to the Golden Island. Following the danceable music of DJ Sascha and the freestyle by the rapper GOMESS, we hear Hibari Misora's old time classic, Omatsuri Mambo. Ayaka Hirahara and Durian Lollobrigida sing the song to energise the crowd further. Moreover, all of the MAZEKOZE cast members in colourful costumes dance, perform magic tricks, busk, play Chanbara, perform folk dances and the like, one after the other in their own unique ways. In the final bit, Aozora Oendan appear to send a message to cheer the world shouting “Hurrah! Hurrah, to humankind! Hurrah!”.

- ⑤ Outcomes and legacy of the project

The results of the viewer survey show that many of the viewers gained resonance and awareness of diversity and an inclusive society, and that this was a "trigger" for a change in their consciousness and behaviour (79% answered it triggered while 19% answered it slightly triggered). The encounters, connections and interactions born through this project will lead to each of the audience's new story (episode) and this organic expansion and sharing will be an important step towards an inclusive society.
- We hope that this project will lead to the formation of a community in which a diverse range of people can participate, and that the deepening and expansion of cooperation and collaboration between public and private organisations will lead to an increase in the number of high-quality activities related to diversity, and an increase in the number of opportunities for artists with different personalities.
- By holding the event, which was viewed by a large number of people, online, we were able to provide a safe and comfortable environment especially for people with impairments, who face difficulties going out, and for people from all over the world to participate.
- The online nature of the event allowed us to provide an experience in an extraordinary space, without limiting the stage to a specific region, and to offer a variety of programmes, thus demonstrating a new form of cultural programme.

Salsa Gumtape's concert is not to appeal loudly for diversity and symbiosis, but Salsa Gumtape itself will embody diversity and symbiosis right in front of your eyes by performing live. In a very free live space, you can share the fun and experience the comfort of slowly breaking down the walls of your mind that were not needed to be there. This year's event also features a joint performance with shakuhachi player Kizen Oyama.

The event was originally planned to be held in the Momijigaoka Cultural Zone, one of Japan's most iconic modernist building groups, but due to the impact of the spread of the novel coronavirus, the decision was made to broadcast the event online.

The concept of Towards an Inclusive Society was richly expressed and communicated to the world through the power of diverse and attractive culture and art from a single region, Kanagawa Prefecture.

In addition, by launching the programme during the period of the Tokyo 2020 Paralympic Games, which generated a great deal of excitement and interest, we have contributed to the penetration of the idea of an inclusive society among viewers.

In terms of the promotion of culture and the art in Kanagawa Prefecture, the participation of many artists from a variety of genres, including dance, theatre, art and music, in the wake of the Tokyo 2020 Games has helped to build a new people's network.
